

PRESIDENT PLAYS GOLF WITH HIS HOUSE GUESTS

Fred W. Upham, William Wrigley, Jr., and George Marcy Staying at White House—Luncheon for Mrs. Coolidge.

By EVELYN C. HUNT.

WILLIAM WRIGLEY, Jr., George Marcy and Fred W. Upham arrived from Chicago yesterday to be house guests of President Harding. Mr. Upham, as spokesman for the party, declared that the visit is exclusively a social one.

The party went golfing with the President in the afternoon. It being the first time he has played with anyone outside his immediate official family since Mrs. Harding was taken ill several months ago.

Mrs. Coolidge, wife of the Vice President, will be the honor guest at a luncheon which Mrs. Marston Butler will give next Wednesday at the Washington Club. The Vice President and Mrs. Coolidge will go to Philadelphia tomorrow morning to attend the Army and Navy game and will have with them a party of guests among whom will be William Whiting, of Holyoke, Mass. They will return to Washington tomorrow evening.

The Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Denby were the guests of honor at dinner last evening of Captain and Mrs. Arthur MacArthur. The other guests were Miss Adelaide Canfield, who is the guest of Secretary and Mrs. Denby, the latter her cousin; Rear Admiral and Mrs. Charles V. McVay, Jr., Major and Mrs. Harry Leonard, and Lieut. Comdr. Montgomery E. Higgins, U. S. N.

Secretary Denby returned yesterday morning from Dayton, O., where he made an address Thursday night.

Mrs. Henry C. Wallace, wife of the Secretary of Agriculture, was the honor guest at a luncheon given yesterday by Mrs. William F. Kelly. The other guests were Mrs. Joseph Hampson, Mrs. Hampson Gary, Mrs. James R. Mann, Mrs. Davenport White, Mrs. Ezra Koon and Mrs. Wilbur J. Carr.

LADY GEDDES, wife of the British ambassador, will be at home the first and third Fridays in December, after 4:30 o'clock.

The Rumanian minister and Princess Bibesco will sail tomorrow from England for America, after spending the summer abroad.

The Under-Secretary of State and Mrs. William Phillips will attend the Army-Navy game tomorrow.

Representative and Mrs. Adam M. Wyant, of Pennsylvania, have returned to their apartment at Wardman Park Hotel.

The Minister of Panama, D. Ricardo J. Alfaro, will return to Washington tomorrow from Pinar, Ill., where he went Thursday to attend the banquet of the local university club given last evening. He was the principal speaker at the banquet.

The Charge d'Affaires of Rumania and Mme. Nuno entertained at dinner last evening, their guests including the Counselor of the Italian Embassy, Augusto Rosso, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schoelkopf and Commander and Mrs. Leigh Warren.

MISS VIRGINIA and Miss Frederica McKenney will entertain at dinner this evening, taking their guests to Mrs. Thomas F. Walsh's dance.

Capt. H. W. Heister of Langley Field, Va., is spending the week at Wardman Park Hotel.

The Secretary of the British Embassy and Mrs. R. Leslie Craigie entertained a company of fourteen at dinner last evening.

MRS. MILES POINDEXTER, wife of Senator Poindexter of Washington State. Capital society is grieving that it will have to part with this charming hostess after March 4.

Society Notes

SENATOR AND MRS. GEORGE WHARTON PEPPER will have Assistant Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt as guests at their home in Philadelphia for the Army and Navy game. Colonel and Mrs. Roosevelt will have guests in their box for the game, and Senator and Mrs. Pepper will view the contest from the box reserved for directors of the University of Pennsylvania.

Miss Helen Griffin, daughter of Rear Admiral and Mrs. Griffin, entertained at bridge yesterday afternoon for a group of last season's debutantes who were asked to meet Miss Elizabeth Taylor Jones, a bud of this season.

Ben Blow, the manager of the Victory Highway Association, has arrived from San Francisco and is at the Lee House for several days.

Mrs. Lewis, wife of Maj. Evan E. Lewis, entertained a company of forty at luncheon yesterday in honor of her sister, Mrs. Bandholtz, wife of Brig. Gen. H. H. Bandholtz. Following the luncheon the company remained to play bridge.

The debutantes of the season will meet at 11:30 Tuesday morning in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Pembroke Thom to discuss the plans for a ball which they will give early in January.

Mrs. Ella S. Limerick will be hostess for the Women's City Club at a dance at the clubhouse this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. William S. Moorehead of Pittsburgh, who are staying at the Shoreham entertained at a dinner of twelve covers there last night.

Mrs. William Hubbard Hall, formerly of Los Angeles, has selected Washington as a residence while having her young daughters, Miss Jane and Emily Hall, prepare for Vassar and is at Wardman Park Hotel while selecting a home.

Mrs. Lincoln Green entertained a group of young girls at luncheon yesterday for her daughter, Miss Ruth Miller Green, who will make her debut later in the season. The guests included Miss Laura Bryn, Miss Emily Dial, Miss Helen Campbell, Miss Charlotte MacDougall, Miss Diana Cumming, Miss Emma Stitt, Miss Catherine Radcliffe, Miss Elizabeth Taylor Jones, Miss Louise Boggs, Miss Neville Johnson, Miss Elizabeth Walter, Miss Margaret Davis, Miss Elizabeth Marbury Beale, Miss Eleanor Carroll Hill, Miss Edna Muncester, Miss Alice Milburn, Miss Betty Werner and her house guest, Miss Jane Andrews; Miss Dorothy Brier, Miss Virginia Edwards, Miss Anne Hall Green, Miss Mary Park Clements, Miss Katherine Wrenn, the Misses Holterith, Miss Leonora Greenlees, Miss Caroline Henry and Miss Ardy Starling of Baltimore, who is visiting the hostess.

Representative T. Frank Appleby, of New Jersey, has returned to his apartment at Wardman Park Hotel, after an extended stay at his home in Asbury Park. Mrs. Appleby will join him here some time later.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Young, of Riverhead, L. I., have taken a room at the Lee House.

First Debutante Of Season Makes Bow to Society

THE first debutante of this season to make her formal bow to society is Miss Helen Campbell, daughter of Representative and Mrs. Philip Pitt Campbell, who was presented at tea yesterday afternoon from 4 to 7 o'clock, in their historic and charming home, Windsor, on Mount Vernon boulevard, Va.

Quantities of chrysanthemums and palms were used in the drawing room, where the popular debutante received with her mother, and the dining room was resplendent with stately American beauty roses. Assisting in the dining room were Mrs. Arthur Capper, Mrs. Daniel R. Anthony, Jr., Mrs. Edward Gann, Mrs. James Karriek, Mrs. Herbert Carter, Mrs. William Mitchell and Mrs. A. Felix Dupont of Wilmington, who arrived yesterday morning to visit Congressman and Mrs. Campbell. Miss Campbell was assisted by Miss Catherine Weller, Miss Virginia Selden, Miss Catherine Radcliffe, Miss Dorothy Warren, Miss Virginia Edwards, Miss Emma Stitt, Miss Elizabeth Taylor Jones, Miss Alice Milburn and Miss Elizabeth Turner.

The debutante wore a gown of silver cloth, veiled in cream white chiffon, the panels on the skirt falling below the hem, and the bodice made plain without sleeves, the chiffon cut high and straight at the neckline. A wide girde of the chiffon was held by a cluster of chifon flowers in corn color and green, and she wore a corsage bouquet of tea roses.

Mrs. Campbell was gowned in dark blue velvet, the skirt gracefully draped and the bodice heavily embroidered in gun-metal and blue beads, and she wore a corsage bouquet of sweetheart roses.

Congressman and Mrs. Campbell entertained the members of the receiving party, and a corresponding number of men, at a buffet supper after the tea.

Captain and Mrs. Wright and Miss Campbell will motor to Wilmington today to stay over the week end with Mrs. duPont. The party will attend the Army and Navy game tomorrow.

FAMOUS CZECH VIOLINIST GIVES PROGRAM

Jaroslav Kocian, After an Absence of Years, Greeted by D. C. Audience—He Plays Instrument Exquisitely.

By LEE SOMERS.

ELEVEN years is a long time for an artist to retain his hold upon a public, and it was not, therefore, surprising that the audience which greeted Jaroslav Kocian, the famous Czech violin virtuoso, at the President Theater yesterday afternoon, was—though good-sized—not so great as Mr. Kocian deserved. Those who love the violin exquisitely played missed one of the musical treats of the season if they were not present.

To be sure, it is not Mr. Kocian's fault in the least that he has been away from us so long. He admires America intensely, and has always been especially fond of Washington. But, hemmed inside the "iron ring" during the great war, he was hardly able to venture outside his native Bohemia.

Naturally, some of those who had heard him eleven years ago were present at the concert yesterday, and probably all would concur in the view that he has not only retained all the vigor and clarity of his earlier appearance but has added to them a matured skill which placed him definitely in the front rank of violinists.

More, he possesses indubitably that feeling for his art which makes him a true poet of his instrument. His bowing and fingering surmount all technical difficulties, and his lower tones possess a liquid limpidity that gives to the violin all the flexibility of the human voice.

His principal works yesterday were Glazunov's Concert A—major, op. 82, and Czakovsky's Concert D—major, op. 25. The first movement of the former work is far from melodious, and in fact, at times almost unpleasant, but it is at all times an interesting composition. The Czakovsky work was performed in a truly masterful manner which splendidly accentuated its intrinsic merits.

The program was predominantly Slavic, and more than that, mainly representative of the composers of Mr. Kocian's own land. Two such selections were followed by Dvorak's "Mazurka," Kocian's own "Lullaby," and Wienawski selection, "Carnival Russe."

Mr. Kocian is eminently partial to the work of one of the most prominent of present-day composers in Czechoslovakia, J. Suk, who was represented on the program by his "Adagio," played by Vladimir Polivka. Incidentally, Mr. Polivka, who acted as accompanist for Mr. Kocian, is an associate artist worthy of high commendation. When one hears the Suk work, one understands Kocian's enthusiasm. He expects this composer to become an international figure.

Messrs. Kocian and Polivka imparted to the stirring music of their own land an impetuosity and dash of their own, combined with artistic feeling and perfect execution. The concert, given under the auspices of T. Arthur Smith, Inc., was a real musical event.

Miss Louise Fitch To Speak Before College Women

THERE will be a special tea at the College Women's Club tomorrow afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock, to which the teachers of the public and private schools of Washington have been invited. Miss R. Louise Fitch will be the speaker.

Miss Fitch is secretary of the American Association of University Women, and has written a book entitled "Madame France," containing some of her observations on the women and girls of France made during her work for the Y. W. C. A. overseas during the war.

Mrs. Howard L. Hodgkins and Mrs. Raymond B. Morgan of the Board of Education will be the guests of honor, and Mrs. Joshua Evans, Jr., will pour tea.
